April 2019

Night works and temporary traffic changes – Harbour Road to Theodore Street, Hamilton

From mid-April until late June 2019, night works will be carried out intermittently on Kingsford Smith Drive between Harbour Road and Theodore Street, Hamilton.

These night works will allow the project to complete construction east of Harbour Road by mid-2019. Once these works are complete, Kingsford Smith Drive will open to three lanes of traffic in each direction between Harbour Road and Theodore Street, Hamilton.

Works will include:

- removing the concrete barriers in the centre median with a small crane
- installing a section of stormwater drainage pipes with road saws, jackhammers, excavators and trucks
- cutting vehicle detector loops into the asphalt with road saws
- removing the existing top layer of asphalt with a profiler and trucks
- placing the final top layer of asphalt with asphalt paving machines, trucks and rollers
- permanent line marking of the new road alignment with a line marking vehicle.

Residents on Kingsford Smith Drive and local streets may be able to see and hear this work from their property. In addition, asphaltting works can produce a minor chemical odour.

These works will involve lane closures on Kingsford Smith Drive, and temporary traffic changes including the temporary closures of side roads in mid-May. Each side road will be closed for one night shift (7pm to 5am). These traffic changes are intended to occur in May 2019 in numerical order as outlined overleaf. Traffic will be detoured around the closures with traffic controllers and signage to assist motorists. See map overleaf for details.

These works will also involve temporary driveway restrictions for properties with direct access to Kingsford Smith Drive. Impacted properties will be notified directly ahead of these works.

Pedestrian access will be maintained through the work site at all times.

In the event of wet weather or unforeseen circumstances, these works may be extended.
